TABLE D
VOCATIONAL MINOR
CULTURAL HERITAGE AND TOURISM

From the Minor courses given below two groups (six courses) can be offered to the students who have taken History as major discipline and also to students from other Major discipline. These courses emphasize the practical application of historical knowledge in preserving cultural heritage and promoting tourism, which makes them very relevant today. They offer a distinct focus that sets them apart from the major courses in the history discipline. Additionally, students who pursue these courses can further their education through specialized higher studies, enhancing their expertise and career prospects in these dynamic fields.

EVALUATION SCHEME

- The evaluation scheme for each course contains two parts: internal evaluation (about 30%) and external evaluation (about 70%). Each of the Major and Minor courses is of 4-credits. It is evaluated for 100 marks, out of which 30 marks is from internal evaluation and 70 marks, from external evaluation. Each of the General Foundation course is of 3-credits. It is evaluated for 75 marks, out of which 25 marks is from internal evaluation and 50 marks, from external evaluation.
- The 4-credit courses (Major and Minor courses) are of two types: (i) courses with only theory and (ii) courses with 3-credit theory and 1-credit practical
 - In 4-credit courses with only theory component, out of the total 5 modules of the syllabus, one open-ended module with 20% content is designed by the faculty member teaching that course, and it is internally evaluated for 10 marks. The internal evaluation of the remaining 4 theory modules is for 20 marks.

- In 4-credit courses with 3-credit theory and 1-credit practicum components, out of the total 5 modules of the syllabus, 4 modules are for theory and the fifth module is for practicum. The practicum component is internally evaluated for 20 marks. The internal evaluation of the 4 theory modules is for 10 marks
3. All the 3-credit courses (General Foundational Courses) in History are with only theory component. Out of the total 5 modules of the syllabus, one open-ended module with 20% content is designed by the faculty member teaching that course, and it is internally evaluated for 5 marks. The internal evaluation of the remaining 4 theory modules is for 20 marks.
 4. Students can write external examination in history either completely in English or in Malayalam.

1.2 EVALUATION OF PRACTICUM COMPONENT

The evaluation of practicum component in Major and Minor courses is completely by internal evaluation.

- Continuous evaluation of practicum by the teacher-in-charge shall carry a weightage of 50%.
- The end-semester practicum examination and viva-voce, and the evaluation of practicum activities shall be conducted by the teacher-in-charge and an internal examiner appointed by the Department Council
- The process of continuous evaluation of practicum component shall be completed before 10 days from the commencement of the end-semester examination
- Those who passed in continuous evaluation alone will be permitted to appear for the end-semester examination and viva-voce

The scheme of continuous evaluation and the end-semester examination and viva-voce of practicum component shall be as given below:

Sl. No.	Evaluation of Practicum Component of Credit -1 in a Major/Minor course	Marks for Practicum	Weightage
1	Continuous evaluation of practicum/exercise performed in practicum classes by the students	10	50%
2	End-semester examination and viva-voce to be conducted by teacher-in-charge along with an additional examiner arranged internally by the Department Council	7	35%
3	Evaluation of the Practicum activity reports submitted for the end semester viva-voce examination by the teacher-in-charge and additional examiner	3	15%
Total Marks		20

1.3. EXTERNAL EVALUATION OF THEORY COMPONENT

External evaluation carries 70% marks. Examinations will be conducted at the end of each semester. Individual questions are evaluated in marks and the total marks are converted into grades by the University based on 10-point grading system (refer section 5).

PATTERN OF QUESTION PAPER FOR MAJOR AND MINOR COURSES

2. INTERNSHIP

- All students should undergo an internship of 2 credits during the first six semesters in a firm, industry or organization, or training in labs with faculty and researchers of their institution or other Higher Educational Institutions (HEIs) or research institutions.
- Internship can be for enhancing the employability of the student or for developing the research aptitude.
- Internship can involve hands-on training on a particular skill/ equipment/ software. It can be a short project on a specific problem or area. Attending seminars or workshops related to an area of learning or skill can be a component of an internship.
- A faculty member/instructor of the respective institution, where the student does the Internship, should be the supervisor of the Internship.

2.1. GUIDELINES FOR INTERNSHIP

1. Internships can be done in History or allied disciplines or related skills.
2. There should be a minimum of 60 hrs. of engagement from the student in the Internship.
3. Summer vacations and other holidays can be used for completing the Internship.
4. In the BA History Honours programme, an institute/ industry visits or study tour is a requirement for the completion of the Internship. Visit to a minimum of one national research institute, research laboratory and place of historical and cultural importance should be part of the study tour. A brief report of the study tour has to be submitted with photos and analysis.

5. The students should make regular and detailed entries into a personal log book throughout the period of the Internship. The logbook will be a record of the progress of the Internship and the time spent on the work, and it will be useful in writing the final report. It may contain interaction with skilled people and results, ideas, processes and strategies used, technology utilized etc. All entries should be dated. The Internship supervisor should periodically examine and countersign the log book.
6. The log book and the typed report must be submitted at the end of the Internship.
7. The institution at which the Internship will be carried out should be approved by the Department Council of the college where the student has enrolled for the UG (Honours) programme. The Department has to prepare a list of institutions in advance to arrange internships for students.

2.2. EVALUATION OF INTERNSHIP

- The evaluation of the Internship shall be done internally through continuous assessment mode by a committee internally constituted by the Department Council of the college where the student has enrolled for the UG Honours programme.
- The credits and marks for the Internship will be awarded only at the end of the 6th semester.
- The scheme of continuous evaluation and the end-semester viva-voce examination based on the submitted report shall be as given below:

Sl. No.	Components of Evaluation of Internship		Marks for Internship 2 Credits	Weightage
1	Continuous evaluation of internship through interim presentations and reports by the committee internally constituted by the Department Council	Acquisition of skill set	10	40%
2		Interim Presentation and Viva-voce	5
3		Punctuality and Log Book	5
4	Report of Institute Visit/ Study Tour		5	10%

8	Evaluation of the day-to-day records, the report of the internship supervisor, and the final report submitted for the end semester viva--voce examination before the committee internally constituted by the Department Council	8	15%

3. PROJECT

3.1. PROJECT IN HONOURS PROGRAMME

In the Honours programme, the student has the option to do a Project of 12 credits instead of three Core Courses in Major in semester 8.

- The Project can be done in the same institution/any other higher educational institution (HEI)/research centre/training centre
- The Project in Honours programme can be a short research work or an extended internship or a skill-based training programme
- A faculty member of the respective institution, where the student does the Project, should be the supervisor of the Project.

3.2. PROJECT IN HONOURS WITH RESEARCH PROGRAMME

- Students who secure 75% marks and above (equivalently, CGPA 7.5 and above) cumulatively in the first six semesters are eligible to get selected for Honours with Research stream in the fourth year.
- A relaxation of 5% in marks (equivalently, a relaxation of 0.5 grade in CGPA) is allowed for those belonging to SC/ST/OBC (non-creamy layer)/Differently-Abled/Economically Weaker Section (EWS)/other categories of candidates as per the decision of the UGC from time to time
- In the Honours with Research programme, the student has to do a mandatory Research Project of 12 credits instead of three Core Courses in Major in semester 8.
- The approved research centres of the University of Calicut or any other university/HEI can offer the Honours with Research programme. The departments in the affiliated colleges under the University of Calicut, which are not the approved research centres of the University, should get prior approval from the University to offer the Honours with Research programme. Such departments should have minimum two faculty members with Ph.D., and they should also have the necessary infrastructure to offer Honours with the Research programme.

- A faculty member of the University/ College with a Ph.D. degree can supervise the research project of the students who have enrolled for Honours with Research. One such faculty member can supervise a maximum five students in Honours with Research stream.
- The maximum intake of the department for Honours with Research programme is fixed by the department based on the number of faculty members eligible for project supervision, and other academic, research, and infrastructural facilities available.
- If a greater number of eligible students are opting for the Honours with Research programme than the number of available seats, then the allotment shall be based on the existing rules of reservations and merits

3.3. GUIDELINES FOR THE PROJECT IN HONOURS PROGRAMME AND HONOURS WITH RESEARCH PROGRAMME

1. The project can be in History or allied disciplines or interdisciplinary in character.
2. The project should be done individually.
3. Project work can be data/fieldwork/technology based etc., in nature.
4. There should be a minimum 360 hrs. of engagement from the student in the Project work in Honours programme as well as in Honours with Research programme
5. There should be minimum 13hrs./week of engagement (the hours corresponding to the three core courses in Major in semester 8) from the teacher in the guidance of the Project(s) in Honours programme and Honours with Research programme
6. The various steps in project works are the following:
 - Identification of the research problem and fixation of research questions
 - Literature review of the topic.
 - Investigation of the problem by using appropriate techniques and methodology.
 - Systematic recording of the work/data collection.
 - Reporting the results with interpretation in a standard documented form.
 - Presenting the results before the examiners.
7. During the Project the students should make regular and detailed entries into a personal log book through the period of investigation. The logbook will be a record of the progress of the Project and the time spent on the work, and it will be useful in writing the final report. It may contain details of data collection, analysis of data, fieldwork and results, ideas, reports of interaction with people and experts, primary evidence consulted, methodology applied etc. All entries should be dated. The Project supervisor should periodically examine and countersign the log book.

8. The log book and the typed report must be submitted at the end of the Project. A copy of the report should be kept for reference at the department and in the library of the college/University. A soft copy of the report too should be submitted, to be sent to the external examiner in advance. The college/university has to publish these reports through the website of the department or college
9. It is desirable, but not mandatory, to publish the results of the Project in a peer-reviewed journal.
10. The project report shall have an undertaking from the student and a certificate from the research supervisor for the originality of the work, stating that there is no plagiarism and that the work has not been submitted for the award of any other degree/ diploma in the same institution or any other institution.
11. The project proposal, the institution at which the project is being carried out, and the project supervisor should be approved by the Department Council of the college where the student has enrolled for the UG Honours programme

3.4. EVALUATION OF PROJECT

- The evaluation of the Project will be conducted at the end of the eighth semester by both internal and external modes.
- The Project in Honours programme as well as that in Honours with Research programme will be evaluated for 300 marks. Out of this, 90 marks is from internal evaluation and 210 marks, from external evaluation.
- The internal evaluation of the Project work shall be done through continuous assessment mode by a committee internally constituted by the Department Council of the college where the student has enrolled for the UG Honours programme. 30% of the weightage shall be given through this mode.
- The remaining 70% shall be awarded by the external examiner appointed by the University.
- The scheme of continuous evaluation and the end-semester viva-voce of the Project shall be as given below:

Components of Evaluation of Project	Marks for the Research Project (Honours/ Honours with Research)	Weightage
	12 Credits
Continuous evaluation of project work through interim presentations and reports by the committee internally constituted by the Department Council	90	30%

End-semester viva-voce examination to be conducted by the external examiner appointed by the university	150	50%
Evaluation of the day-to-day records and project report submitted for the end-semester viva-voce examination conducted by the external examiner	60	20%
Total Marks	300

INTERNAL EVALUATION OF PROJECT

Sl. No	Components of Evaluation of Project	Marks for the Research Project (Honours/Honours with Research)
1	Skill in doing project work	30
2	Interim Presentation and Viva-Voce	20
3	Punctuality and Log book	20
4	Scheme/ Organization of Project Report	20
Total Marks		90

EXTERNAL EVALUATION OF PROJECT

Sl. No	Components of Evaluation of Project	Marks for the Research Project (Honours/Honours with Research) 12 credits
1	Content and relevance of the Project, Methodology, Quality of analysis, and Innovations of Research	50
2	Presentation of the Project	50
3	Project Report (typed copy), Log Book and References	60
4	Viva-Voce	50
Total Marks		210

4. GENERAL FOUNDATION COURSES

- All the General Foundation Courses (3-credits) in History are with only theory component.

4.1. INTERNAL EVALUATION

4.2. EXTERNAL EVALUATION

External evaluation carries about 70% marks. Examinations will be conducted at the end of each semester. Individual questions are evaluated in marks and the total marks are converted into grades by the University based on 10-point grading system (refer section 5).

PATTERN OF QUESTION PAPER FOR GENERAL FOUNDATION COURSES

Duration	Type	Total No. of Questions	No. of Questions to be Answered	Marks for Each Question	Ceiling of Marks
1.5 Hours	Short Answer	10	8 – 10	2	16
	Paragraph/ Problem	5	4 – 5	6	24
	Essay	2	1	10	10
Total Marks					50

5. LETTER GRADES AND GRADE POINTS

- Mark system is followed for evaluating each question.
- For each course in the semester letter grade and grade point are introduced in 10-point indirect grading system as per guidelines given below.
- The Semester Grade Point Average (SGPA) is computed from the grades as a measure of the student's performance in a given semester.
- The Cumulative GPA (CGPA) is based on the grades in all courses taken after joining the programme of study.
- Only the weighted grade point based on marks obtained shall be displayed on the grade card issued to the students.

LETTER GRADES AND GRADE POINTS

Sl. No.	Percentage of Marks (Internal & External Put Together)	Description	Letter Grade	Grade Point	Range of Grade Points	Class
1	95% and above	Outstanding	O	10	9.50 – 10	First Class with Distinction
2	Above 85% and below 95%	Excellent	A+	9	8.50 – 9.49
3	75% to below 85%	Very Good	A	8	7.50 – 8.49
4	65% to below 75%	Good	B+	7	6.50 – 7.49	First Class
5	55% to below 65%	Above Average	B	6	5.50 – 6.49
6	45% to below 55%	Average	C	5	4.50 – 5.49	Second Class
7	35% to below 45% aggregate (internal and external put together) with a minimum of 30% in external valuation	Pass	P	4	3.50 – 4.49	Third Class
8	Below an aggregate of 35% or below 30% in external evaluation	Fail	F	0	0 – 3.49	Fail
9	Not attending the examination	Absent	Ab	0	0	Fail

- When students take audit courses, they will be given Pass (P) or Fail (F) grade without any credits.
- The successful completion of all the courses and capstone components prescribed for the three-year or four-year programme with 'P' grade shall be the minimum requirement for the award of UG Degree or UG Degree Honours or UG Degree Honours with Research, as the case may be.

5.1. COMPUTATION OF SGPA AND CGPA

- The following method shall be used to compute the Semester Grade Point Average (SGPA):

The SGPA equals the product of the number of credits (C_i) with the grade points (G_i) scored by a student in each course in a semester, summed over all the courses taken by a student in the semester, and then divided by the total number of credits of all the courses taken by the student in the semester,

$$\text{i.e. SGPA } (S_i) = \sum_i (C_i \times G_i) / \sum_i (C_i)$$ where C_i is the number of credits of the i^{th} course and G_i is the grade point scored by the student in the i^{th} course in the given semester. Credit Point of a course is the value obtained by multiplying the credit (Ci) of the course by the grade point (Gi) of the course.

$$\text{SGPA} = \frac{\text{Sum of the credit points of all the courses in a semester}}{\text{Total credits in that semester}}$$

ILLUSTRATION – COMPUTATION OF SGPA

Semester	Course	Credit	Letter Grade	Grade point	Credit Point (Credit x Grade)
I	Course 1	3	A	8	3 x 8 = 24
I	Course 2	4	B+	7	4 x 7 = 28
I	Course 3	3	B	6	3 x 6 = 18
I	Course 4	3	O	10	3 x 10 = 30
I	Course 5	3	C	5	3 x 5 = 15
I	Course 6	4	B	6	4 x 6 = 24
	Total	20			139
	SGPA				139/20 = 6.950

- The Cumulative Grade Point Average (CGPA) of the student shall be calculated at the end of a programme. The CGPA of a student determines the overall academic level of the student in a programme and is the criterion for ranking the students.

CGPA for the three-year programme in CUFYUGP shall be calculated by the following formula.

$$\text{CGPA} = \frac{\text{Sum of the credit points of all the courses in six semesters}}{\text{Total credits in six semesters (133)}}$$

CGPA for the four-year programme in CUFYUGP shall be calculated by the following formula.

$$\text{CGPA} = \frac{\text{Sum of the credit points of all the courses in eight semesters}}{\text{Total credits in eight semesters (177)}}$$

- The SGPA and CGPA shall be rounded off to three decimal points and reported in the transcripts.

- Based on the above letter grades, grade points, SGPA and CGPA, the University shall issue the transcript for each semester and a consolidated transcript indicating the performance in all semesters.

ELECTIVE COURSES IN HISTORY

V SEMESTER

HIS5EJ301: GENDER IN HISTORY

Course Description: This course delves into broad debates and theoretical frameworks regarding history, nationalism, colonialism, sexuality, laws, and their intersections with gender. By exploring these connections, often overlooked in the past, students will develop critical thinking skills and gain a richer understanding of historical and social themes. In examining broad trends in writing gendered history, this course will pay particular attention to the unique trajectory of gender history in India. This comparative approach will be further enriched by case studies, allowing students to delve deeper into the multifaceted connections between gender and Indian history.

V	Open Ended: This unit is customizable by the instructor. Topics can be chosen based on the interests of the class or current research trends in the field. Potential topics might include:	12
1.	The Role of Propaganda in Fascist Regimes: Analyzing the techniques and impact of propaganda in shaping public opinion and promoting fascist ideologies.
2.	Fascism and Art: Exploring the relationship between fascist regimes and artistic expression, including censorship, propaganda art, and the use of culture for political purposes.
3.	Fascism and Education: Examining the indoctrination of youth in fascist ideologies through education systems and youth organizations.
4.	Resistance Movements and Underground Networks: Investigating the strategies, tactics, and networks utilized by resistance groups to oppose fascist rule and support persecuted minorities.
5.	Fascism and Religion: Exploring the complex relationship between fascist regimes and religious institutions, including collaboration, co-option, and persecution of religious minorities.
6.	Fascism and Modern Technology: Examining the role of technology, such as radio, film, and mass media, in disseminating fascist propaganda and controlling public discourse

Activities and Assessment for the open-ended module
For the open-ended module, here are suggested activities and evaluation methods aligned with the potential topics:
1.	Activity: Debate Divide students into teams to debate controversial topics related to fascism, such as the effectiveness of resistance movements, the role of propaganda, or the ethical implications of collaboration. Assessment: Evaluation based on participation in the debate, including the quality of arguments, use of evidence, and ability to engage with opposing viewpoints.
2.	Activity: Creative Project Students create a piece of artwork, literature, or multimedia project that explores themes or experiences related to fascism, such as a short film, poetry collection, or digital exhibit. Assessment: Evaluation of the creative project based on originality, depth of exploration, and effectiveness in conveying messages or themes related to fascism.
3.	Activity: Panel Discussion Organize a panel discussion with guest speakers or experts on topics related to fascism, such as the rise of far-right movements, memory and memorialization, or contemporary challenges to democracy. Assessment: Participation in the panel discussion and reflection paper where students synthesize key insights and draw connections between the discussion and course themes.
4.	Activity: Interactive Simulation Create an interactive simulation or role-playing activity where students take on the roles of historical figures, resistance members, or citizens living under fascist rule, experiencing the challenges and dilemmas faced during that time. Assessment: Reflection journal or group debriefing where students reflect on their experiences in the simulation, discussing the ethical and practical implications of their decisions and actions.

Note: The course is divided into five modules, with four having minimum 25 units and one open-ended module with a variable number of units. There is total 48 instructional hours for the fixed modules and 12 hours for the open-ended one. Internal assessments (30 marks) are split between the open-ended module (10 marks) and the fixed modules (20 marks). The final exam, however, covers only the fixed units from the fixed modules

SEMESTER VI

HIS6EJ302 An Introduction to Indian Epigraphy

Course Description: This course enables the students to learn about epigraphical studies in India. It enables the students to understand the nature and types of inscriptions in India. The text and context of various inscriptions are analysed in the course. The nature of the early Indian and South Indian palaeography is examined. Proficiency in early scripts such as Brahmi and Vattezhuthuis also intended to be attained by this course. It creates the habit of using primary data and provides corroborative evidence. It enables the students to survey decipher and interpret inscriptions.

VI Semester BA (CUFYUGP) Degree Examinations October 2024
HIS6EJ303 Numismatics and History

Maximum time: 2hrs

Maximum Mark:70

Section A

(Answer All. Each question carries 3 marks)

(Ceiling: 24marks)

1. Mintage
2. Dies struck coins
3. Obverse and reverse
4. Mint
5. Inscribed coins
6. counter-struck coins
7. Legends
8. Punch marks
9. counterfeiting of coins
10. Origin of numismatic studies

Section B

(Answer All. Each question carries 6 marks)

(Ceiling: 36 marks)

11. What are the features of uncirculated coins?
12. Analyse the impact of Mughal innovations on Indian coinage.
13. What are the distinctive characteristics of each type of coin mentioned?
14. Write a note on the important Vedic references to coins?
15. Describe the features of uninscribed coins of early India?
16. How did the Attic standard revolutionise coinage in the Indian subcontinent
17. Where were these coins primarily circulated or used as a medium of exchange?
18. When did these various types of coins gain prominence in historical contexts?

Section C

(Answer any one. Each question carries 10 marks)

(1x10=10 marks)

19. Discuss the rise of coinage in Europe.
20. Examine the changes in Indian coinage under the rule of the English East India Company

SEMESTER VI

HIS6EJ304: ARCHIVAL SCIENCE AND DIGITAL DOCUMENTATION

Course Description: This course aims to impart knowledge on the practice of archiving and its global progression. It further elucidates the metamorphosis of archival methods in the digital era. The curriculum is designed to equip students with the understanding of critically examining archival data and the significance of preserving such documents to foster democratic values and inclusivity.

V	Open Ended: This unit is customizable by the instructor. Topics can be chosen based on the interests of the class or current research trends in the field. Potential topics might include: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. AI and Historical Contextualization: Explore how AI technologies can aid in contextualizing historical events within broader social, cultural, and political contexts, including sentiment analysis of historical texts and public discourse. 2. AI and Comparative History: Examine the application of AI in comparative historical analysis, including cross-cultural studies, regional comparisons, and global perspectives Facilitated by AI-driven data analysis 3. AI and Heritage Conservation: Investigate how AI tools can assist in heritage conservation efforts, including the identification and preservation of historical sites, monuments, and architectural 	12 hours structures.

4		AI and Community Engagement: Discuss strategies for using AI to engage local Communities in historical research and interpretation, including crowd sourcing initiatives, and digital storytelling platforms.
5		AI and Digital Archives Management: Explore the role of AI in managing digital archives, including metadata enrichment, content recommendation systems, and digital curation techniques for historical collections.
6		AI and Historical Prediction: Examine the potential for AI technologies to assist historians in making predictions about future historical trends, events, and developments based on historical data analysis and modelling.
7.		AI and Decolonizing History: Explore how AI technologies can contribute to decolonizing historical narratives and perspectives, including efforts to diversify historical sources, Amplify marginalized voices, and challenge Euro centric interpretations of the past
8.		AI and Public Memory: Investigate the role of AI in shaping public memory and commemoration practices, including the use of AI-driven algorithms in memorialization projects, heritage tourism, and digital platforms
9.		AI and Historical Fiction: Reflect on the intersection of AI and historical fiction literature, Including the use of AI-generated narratives, virtual historical reconstructions, and interactive storytelling experiences set in historical contexts.
ACTIVITIES AND ASSESSMENT FOR THE OPEN-ENDED
For the open-ended module, here are suggested activities and evaluation methods aligned with the potential topics:
1.		AI and Historical Contextualization: Activity: Analyze historical texts or artifacts using AI sentiment analysis tools to understand the context and emotions surrounding historical events. Assessment: Written reflection on how AI-assisted contextualization enhances understanding of historical narratives.
2.		AI and Comparative History: Activity: Collaborative research project comparing historical events or phenomena across different regions or cultures using AI-driven data analysis techniques. Assessment: Group presentation and report comparing findings and discussing insights gained from comparative analysis.
3.		AI and Heritage Conservation: Activity: Virtual tour of historical sites using AI-powered augmented reality applications to explore digital reconstructions and conservation efforts. Assessment: Reflective essay on the potential benefits and challenges of using AI in heritage conservation.
4.		AI and Community Engagement: Activity: Design and implement a community-driven historical

	research project using AI tools for data collection, analysis, and interpretation. Assessment: Evaluation of project outcomes, including community feedback, engagement metrics, and reflections on the collaborative process
5.	AI and Digital Archives Management: Activity: Hands-on workshop on using AI tools for digital archives management, including metadata tagging, content recommendation systems, and digital preservation strategies. Assessment: Portfolio showcasing application of AI techniques to enhance digital archives management, including sample metadata enhancements and content recommendations.
6.	AI and Historical Prediction: Activity: Simulation exercise where students use historical data and AI modeling techniques to make predictions about future historical trends or events. Assessment: Written report evaluating the accuracy and reliability of historical predictions Made using AI technologies, including reflections on the limitations of predictive modeling.
7.	AI and Decolonizing History: Activity: Seminar discussion on decolonizing historical narratives using AI technologies, including case studies and critical reflections on Eurocentric biases in historical interpretation. Assessment: Position paper arguing for the integration of decolonizing perspectives into AI-assisted historical research, supported by evidence from seminar discussions and additional research.
8.	AI and Public Memory: Activity: Design and conduct public engagement event using AI technologies to promote awareness and understanding of local historical memory and heritage. Assessment: Event evaluation report analyzing the effectiveness of AI-driven public memory initiatives in engaging diverse audiences and fostering community dialogue.

HIS6EJ306 Writing Oral History

Course Description: 'Writing Oral History' is designed to introduce 'oral history', a method of historical documentation using recorded interviews of people's personal experiences and reflections. Oral history is often providing perspectives that are overlooked in traditional historical texts. It brings history to life by adding a personal dimension to events, eras, and cultures. The course introduces the history and definition of oral history, the fundamentals of conducting oral history interviews, including ethical considerations, and the art of asking effective and engaging questions.

	Digital Disruption: Navigating the Evolving Landscape of Print Media <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Investigate the impact of digital media platforms on traditional print media, considering challenges and opportunities. • Analyze strategies adopted by print media outlets to adapt to digital disruption and maintain relevance. • Explore case studies or emerging trends in digital/print media convergence.
	Print and Social Justice: Advocacy, Representation, and Change <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Examine the historical and contemporary role of print media in advocating for social justice and human rights. • Analyze the representation of marginalized groups in print media and its influence on public perception and social change. • Explore innovative approaches or grassroots movements utilizing print media for advocacy and activism.
	Combating Misinformation: Print Media's Role in Promoting Truth and Media Literacy <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Investigate the spread of misinformation and fake news through print and digital media channels. • Analyze the effectiveness of print media in combatting misinformation and promoting media literacy. • Explore ethical considerations for journalists and media organizations in navigating the era of misinformation.
	Environmental Sustainability in Print Media: Balancing Production with Responsibility

	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Examine the environmental impact of print media production and distribution, including resource consumption and waste generation. • Analyze sustainable practices and innovations in the print industry aimed at reducing environmental harm. • Explore initiatives or campaigns within print media promoting environmental awareness and sustainability.
	Print Cultural Heritage: Preservation, Digitization, and Collective Memory <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Study the challenges and strategies for preserving print collections in libraries, archives, and museums. • Analyze digitization efforts aimed at preserving and providing access to print materials in the digital age. • Explore the cultural significance of print heritage and its role in shaping collective memory and cultural identity.
	Globalization of Print Culture: Diversity, Exchange, and Identity <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Investigate the globalization of print media and its impact on cultural exchange, diversity, and identity. • Analyze the circulation of print materials across borders and languages, considering cultural adaptation and reception. • Explore case studies or comparative analyses highlighting the role of print media in shaping global narratives and identities.
	Activities and Assessment for the open-ended module For the open-ended module, here are suggested activities and evaluation methods aligned with the potential topics:
	Digital Disruption Debate: Activity: Divide the class into groups and assign each group a stance on the impact of digital disruption on print media (positive, negative, neutral). Assessment: Assess students based on their participation in the debate, quality of arguments, and ability to articulate viewpoints supported by evidence
	Print Media Campaign Analysis: Activity: Assign students to analyze a print media campaign related to social justice, environmental sustainability, or another relevant issue. Assessment: Evaluate students' analyses based on their ability to identify campaign objectives, target audience, messaging strategies, and effectiveness in achieving intended outcomes.
	Misinformation Simulation: Activity: Create a simulation where students are presented with fake news articles and tasked with fact-checking and debunking them. Assessment: Assess students based on their ability to critically evaluate information, identify misinformation, and communicate findings effectively.

	Environmental Impact Assessment: Activity: Organize a field trip to a local printing facility or invite a guest speaker from the print industry to discuss environmental sustainability practices. Assessment: Evaluate students based on their reflection papers or presentations highlighting key environmental impacts of print media production and proposed solutions for improvement.
	Cultural Heritage Preservation Project: Activity: Divide students into groups and assign each group a print material (e.g., newspaper, book, photograph) to research and propose preservation strategies. Assessment: Evaluate students' proposals based on their understanding of preservation challenges, feasibility of proposed solutions, and consideration of cultural significance.
	Globalization Case Study Analysis: Activity: Assign students to analyze a case study of print media globalization, such as the circulation of newspapers across borders or the adaptation of magazines for international markets. Assessment: Assess students' case study analyses based on their ability to identify key factors influencing globalization, analyze cultural implications, and propose recommendations for future strategies.

Note: The course is divided into five modules, with four having minimum 26 units and one open-ended module with a variable number of units. There is total 48 instructional hours for the fixed modules and 12 hours for the open-ended one. Internal assessments (30 marks) are split between the open-ended module (10 marks) and the fixed modules (20 marks). The final exam, however, covers only the fixed units from the fixed modules

Examinations HIS8EJ406 Printing and the Arrival of Books
(Credits: 4)

Maximum Time: 2 hours

Maximum Marks: 70

Section A

[Answer All. Each question carries 3 marks] (Ceiling: 24 marks)

1. Why did early civilization develop a writing system?
2. Padshahnamah
3. Where did writing come from?
4. Diamond Sutra
5. Where are the manuscripts of the Mughals kept?
6. Woodblock Print
7. The Guttenberg Press
8. The Vernacular Press Act
9. Erasmus's idea of the printed book
10. William Caxton

Section B

[Answer All. Each question carries 6 marks] (Ceiling: 36 marks)

11. Gandhi said the fight for Swaraj is a fight for liberty of speech, liberty of the press, and the freedom of association. Examine.
12. What was the significance of Gutenberg press on scientific revolution?
13. How the printing press changed the world?
14. Trace the history of print revolution in India
15. Was there a –printing revolution in the Renaissance?
16. What was the effect of the print revolution of religion?
17. What was the earliest kind of print technology developed in China, Japan and Korea?
18. How the print culture and French revolution is is related?

Section C

[Answer any one. Each question carries 10
marks] (1x10=10 marks)

19. Explain how print culture assisted the growth of nationalism in India
20. Describe the impact of the print revolution in Europe during the 15th and 16th century.

SEMESTER VIII
HIS8EJ407 HISTORY OF KERALA SCHOOL OF MATHEMATICS

Course description: The proposed paper intended to provide an in-depth knowledge in the historical background of the so called ‘Kerala School of Mathematics.’ Importance is given to the historical aspects than the pure mathematical computations and problem solving. It follows the method of general to particular. First two sections deal with mathematical developments in the world and in India respectively. The next two sections specifically deal the special features of Kerala Mathematics. It gives an opportunity to make comparisons and understand the quality of the indigenous mathematical system. It reinforces further researches in this area

I Semester BA (CUFYUGP) Degree Examinations October 2024
HIS1MN102: Field Study and Documentation

Maximum time: 2

Maximum Mark:70

Section A

(Answer All. Each question carries 3 marks)

(Ceiling: 24 marks)

1. Define field study and explain its importance in research.
2. List and describe the different types of field study.
3. Discuss the weaknesses of traditional research methods compared to field study research.
4. Outline the key steps involved in planning a field study.
5. What practical aspects and technologies are commonly used in field studies?
6. Explain the process of framing a research problem in the context of field study research.
7. Differentiate between primary and secondary sources in research.
8. What are archival materials and why are they important in field study research?
9. Describe the importance of preserving research sources.
10. Discuss the ethical issues that can arise in field study research.

Section B

(Answer All. Each question carries 6 marks)

(Ceiling: 36 marks)

11. Describe the role of background research in preparing for a field study.
12. Compare and contrast the use of primary and secondary sources in field study research.
13. Explain the significance of pre-field study work in the context of conducting effective field trips.
14. Discuss the methods and challenges of data collection in field studies.
15. How can digital tools enhance the process of field study research?
16. Outline the ethical considerations involved in conducting interviews during a field study.
17. Explain the importance of data storage and management in field study research.
18. Describe the steps involved in the peer review and publication process of historical research papers.

Section C

(Answer any one. Each question carries 10 marks)

(1x10=10 marks)

19. Analyze the process of qualitative and quantitative data analysis in historical research, providing examples of how each method can be applied.
20. Discuss the ethical considerations in historical research and the impact of these considerations on the interpretation and reporting of research findings.

COURSE 2 (GROUP 2)

HIS2MN102 HISTORY OF LATERITE MONUMENTAL BUILDINGS IN WESTERN COASTAL PLAIN OF INDIA

Course Description: This course explores the rich history and architectural significance of laterite monumental buildings in the Western Coastal Plain of India. Through a comprehensive examination of geological, geographical, and cultural factors, students will gain an understanding of the evolution, construction, and preservation of these unique structures.

V	Open Ended: This unit is customizable by the instructor. Topics can be chosen based on the interests of the class or current research trends in the field. Potential topics might include:	12hrs
7.	Sustainable Building Design with Laterite: Explore the principles of sustainable building design using laterite as a primary material. Discuss the environmental benefits and challenges of using laterite in construction, and examine case studies of innovative sustainable buildings incorporating laterite.
8.	Digital Tools for Heritage Preservation: Introduce students to digital tools and technologies utilized for the preservation and documentation of laterite heritage sites. Explore how modern technology, like virtual reality and digital mapping, helps protect and share the stories of ancient laterite structures. Through hands-on activities and demonstrations, learn how these digital tools can bring history to life and make it accessible to everyone, preserving our cultural heritage for future generations.
9.	Teamwork in Preserving Heritage: Facilitate discussions on interdisciplinary collaboration in heritage conservation, focusing on the roles and contributions of archaeologists, architects, conservation scientists, and community stakeholders. Invite guest speakers from diverse backgrounds to share their experiences and insights into collaborative conservation projects
10.	New Ways to Save Ancient Buildings: Examine recent advancements in conservation materials and techniques for preserving laterite monuments. Explore case studies of successful conservation projects, highlighting innovative approaches to structural stabilization, surface protection, and long-term maintenance of ancient buildings.
11.	Tourism and Protecting Heritage Sites: Analyze the relationship between tourism development and heritage conservation, with a focus on laterite-rich regions. Discuss strategies for sustainable tourism management, community engagement, and cultural preservation, and encourage critical reflection on the impacts of tourism on local heritage sites.

	Activities and Assessment for the open-ended module For the open-ended module, here are suggested activities and evaluation methods aligned with the potential topics:
5.	Sustainable Building Design with Laterite Activity: Comparative Analysis Discussion Students review and discuss various designs of sustainable buildings constructed with laterite that they have studied. They analyze the cultural, environmental, and community aspects of each design, considering factors like aesthetics, functionality, and local context. Evaluation Method: Group Discussion Each group presents their analysis of a selected design to the class, highlighting its strengths and weaknesses. Peers engage in a discussion comparing the different designs, discussing which aspects they find most favourable and why.
6.	Digital Tools for Heritage Preservation Activity: Digital Heritage Exhibition Students research a chosen laterite monument and create a digital exhibition showcasing its history, significance, and preservation efforts. They use accessible digital tools like presentation software or online platforms to compile information, images, and multimedia content. Evaluation Method: Exhibition Presentation and Reflection Each student presents their digital exhibition to the class, highlighting key insights and discoveries. Peers provide feedback on the effectiveness of the presentation and the depth of research, focusing on clarity, engagement, and relevance.
7.	Teamwork in Preserving Heritage Activity: Case Study Discussion and Analysis Students analyze case studies of successful heritage preservation projects, focusing on collaborative efforts and community involvement. They discuss the challenges faced, ethical considerations, and the impact of interdisciplinary teamwork. Evaluation Method: Group Discussion and Written Reflection After the discussion, students write reflective essays on the importance of teamwork in heritage preservation, drawing from the case studies and personal insights. Essays are assessed based on critical analysis, depth of reflection, and integration of course concepts.
8.	New Ways to Save Ancient Buildings Activity: Conservation Material Research Project Students research different conservation materials used in preserving laterite monuments, focusing on their properties, historical use, and environmental impact. They create informative posters or presentations summarizing their findings and recommendations. Evaluation Method: Research Presentation and Group Discussion Each student presents their research to the class, discussing the significance of their chosen materials and their suitability for heritage conservation. Peers engage in a group discussion, exploring the pros and cons of various conservation materials and sharing insights from their research.

9.	Tourism and Protecting Heritage Sites Activity: Stakeholder Role-Play and Debate Students role-play as stakeholders involved in the management of a laterite heritage site, such as local residents, government officials, tour operators, and environmentalists. They participate in a simulated debate or negotiation, discussing the challenges and opportunities of tourism development while preserving cultural heritage. Evaluation Method: Role-Play Performance and Reflective Essay Students write reflective essays, analyzing their role-play experience and the complexities of balancing tourism and heritage conservation. Essays are assessed based on critical reflection, depth of understanding, and consideration of multiple perspectives.

Note: The course is divided into five modules, with four having minimum 32 units and one open-ended module with a variable number of units. There is total 48 instructional hours for the fixed modules and 12 hours for the open-ended one. Internal assessments (30 marks) are split between the open-ended module (10 marks) and the fixed modules (20 marks). The final exam, however, covers only the fixed units from the 32 fixed modules.

III SEMESTER BA (CUFYUGP) DEGREE EXAMINATIONS
HIS3MN202 Historical Archaeology in India

(Credits: 4)

Maximum time: 2 hours

Maximum Mark 70

Section A

[Answer all. Each question carries 3 marks] (ceiling 24 Marks)

1. Edakkal cave
2. Assemblage
3. Sangam Literature
4. Asiatic Society of Bengal
5. Alexander Cunningham
6. Saranath
7. Mahabalipuram
8. Keezhadi
9. Mattancherry Palace
10. Kottappuram

Section B

[Answer all. Each question carries 6 marks] (ceiling 36 Marks)

11. Define Historical Archaeology
12. Explain the basic concepts of Archaeology
13. Write a note the contribution of ASI
14. What is Copper Hoard Culture
15. Discuss the features of Chola architecture
16. Examine the historical archaeology of Megaliths
17. Discuss the historical archaeology of Rock cut temples of Kerala
18. Asses the features of Vijayanagara architecture

Section C

[Answer any one. Each question carries 10 marks] (1x10=10 marks)

19. Analyse the archaeology of Vedic Literature
20. Asses the historical archaeology of Indo-Roman trade

Course 4 (Group 2)

HIS8MN302 History of Archaeo-Iron metallurgy and Mining in Pre-modern India

Course description: This course offers a comprehensive exploration of the history, techniques, and cultural significance of iron metallurgy and mining in PreModern India. Through a multidisciplinary approach encompassing archaeology, history, and anthropology, students will delve into the origins, development, and socio-economic implications of metalworking in ancient India, with a particular focus on iron technology

V	Open Ended : This unit is customizable by the instructor. Topics can be chosen based on the interests of the class or current research trends in the field. Potential topics might include:	12hrs
12.	Field Survey and Documentation of Iron Ore Deposits: Undertake a field survey to identify and document iron ore deposits in a specific region, analyzing geological features and historical evidence to understand the significance of these deposits for ancient mining activities.
13.	Cultural and Technological Exchange in Iron Metallurgy: Research and analyze historical evidence of cultural and technological exchanges in iron metallurgy between different regions of the Indian subcontinent and neighbouring civilizations, exploring the impact of these exchanges on metalworking practices.
14.	Development of Ironworking Tools and Techniques: Investigate the development of ironworking tools and techniques over time, examining archaeological evidence and experimental data to understand how innovations in tool design and manufacturing processes contributed to advancements in iron metallurgy
15.	Environmental Impact of Ancient Mining Activities: Study the environmental impact of ancient mining activities, including soil erosion, deforestation, and water pollution, and discuss the implications for sustainability and resource management in PreModern societies
16.	Cultural Significance of Iron Artifacts: Explore the cultural significance of iron artifacts in ancient societies, analyzing their symbolic meanings, religious rituals, and socio-economic value within different cultural contexts.
17.	Trade Networks and Exchange of Metal Goods: Investigate trade networks and the exchange of metal goods between different regions of the Indian subcontinent and beyond, exploring the economic and cultural implications of long-distance trade in PreModern times
18.	Interact with the Local Iron Craft Community and Oral History Compilation: Students will engage directly with local iron craft communities, observing traditional techniques and conversing with artisans to document oral histories. Through this immersive experience, they'll gain insights into the cultural significance of ironworking traditions and contribute to the preservation of intangible heritage.

	Activities and Assessment for the open ended module For the open-ended module, here are suggested activities and evaluation methods aligned with the potential topics:
10.	Field Survey and Documentation of Iron Ore Deposits: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Activity: Organize a field trip to a local area with known iron ore deposits. Students work in groups to conduct geological surveys, collect samples, and document the location, composition, and accessibility of the deposits. • Assessment: Students submit a comprehensive report detailing their findings, including geological maps, sample analysis results, and interpretations of the significance of the iron ore deposits for ancient mining activities
11.	Cultural and Technological Exchange in Iron Metallurgy: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Activity: Assign students to research historical evidence of cultural and technological exchanges in iron metallurgy between different regions. They analyze primary sources, such as archaeological artifacts, trade records, and cultural texts, to identify instances of exchange and collaboration. • Assessment: Students present their research findings in a seminar format, discussing the impact of cultural and technological exchanges on metalworking practices and providing evidence to support their conclusions.
12.	Development of Ironworking Tools and Techniques: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Activity: Divide students into small groups and assign each group a specific period or region to investigate the development of ironworking tools and techniques. They analyze archaeological artifacts, experimental data, and historical texts to trace the evolution of tools and techniques over time. • Assessment: Students create a timeline or visual presentation highlighting key innovations in ironworking tools and techniques, accompanied by explanations of their technological significance and implications for iron metallurgy.
13.	Environmental Impact of Ancient Mining Activities: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Activity: Students conduct research on the environmental impact of ancient mining activities, focusing on case studies from different regions of the Indian subcontinent. They analyze historical records, archaeological evidence, and environmental data to assess the extent of soil erosion, deforestation, and water pollution caused by mining. • Assessment: Students prepare a written report or multimedia presentation summarizing their findings, including an evaluation of the environmental impact of ancient mining activities and recommendations for sustainable resource management practices

14.	Cultural Significance of Iron Artifacts: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Activity: Students select a specific iron artifact from a chosen culture or time period and conduct in-depth research on its cultural significance. They examine the artifact's symbolic meanings, religious associations, and socio-economic value within its cultural context. • Assessment: Students create a multimedia presentation or museum-style exhibit showcasing their chosen iron artifact, providing detailed explanations of its cultural significance and supporting their interpretations with evidence from primary sources.
15.	Trade Networks and Exchange of Metal Goods: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Activity: Assign students to investigate historical trade networks involved in the exchange of metal goods across different regions of the Indian subcontinent and beyond. They analyze trade routes, archaeological evidence, and written records to map out the flow of metal goods and identify key trading centres. • Assessment: Students develop a trade network map or infographic illustrating the exchange of metal goods between regions, accompanied by an analytical essay discussing the economic and cultural implications of long-distance trade in PreModern times.
16.	Interact with the Local Iron Craft Community and Oral History Compilation: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Activity: Organize a community engagement initiative where students visit local iron craft communities or workshops to interact with artisans and craftsmen. They can observe traditional ironworking techniques, participate in hands-on demonstrations, and engage in discussions with practitioners to understand their craft traditions, knowledge systems, and cultural significance. • Assessment: Students are tasked with compiling oral histories and ethnographic data gathered from interactions with the local iron craft community. They document the experiences, stories, and insights shared by artisans, capturing the intangible heritage of ironworking traditions. Assessment may include the submission of written reports, audio recordings, or multimedia presentations showcasing their findings and reflections on the cultural significance of iron craft practices within the community. Additionally, students may reflect on the implications of these oral histories for understanding the socio-cultural dynamics of PreModern iron metallurgy and mining in India.

Note: The course is divided into five modules, with four having minimum 26 units and one open-ended module with a variable number of units. There is total 48 instructional hours for the fixed modules and 12 hours for the open-ended one. Internal assessments (30 marks) are split between the open-ended module (10 marks) and the fixed modules (20 marks). The final exam, however, covers only the fixed units from the 26 fixed modules

VIII Semester B.A. (CUFYUGP) Degree Examinations
HIS8MN302: History of Archaeo-Iron metallurgy and Mining in Pre-modern India
(Credits: 4)

Maximum Time: 2 hours

Maximum Marks: 70

Section A

[Answer All. Each question carries 3 marks] (Ceiling: 24 marks)

1. Archaeometallurgy
2. Painted Grey Ware
3. Pyrotechnology
4. Robert Bruce Foote
5. Iron furnace
6. Wootz
7. Bloomery iron
8. Alloys
9. Megalithic Culture
10. Second Urbanization

Section B

[Answer All. Each question carries 6 marks] (Ceiling:
36 marks)

11. Explain the historical perspectives of metals and their alloys which leading to the growth of civilization
12. What are the main source materials for the study of ancient metallurgy in India?
13. How did traditional knowledge system help us to find iron metallurgical advancement in India?
14. Write a note on Metal Technology in Medieval Historical Archaeology
15. Critically examine the metallurgical research of Iron in South India
16. What are the prerequisites for the iron making process in ancient India?
17. Analyse the main features of Archaeological studies of the material remains of Iron Age in Kerala
18. Discuss the nature of archaeological remains in megalithic sites

Section C

[Answer any one. Each question carries 10 marks] (1x10=10 marks)

19. —Iron metallurgy is an important metal to influence the march of urbanization in India. Substantiate.
20. Account on the contributions of Ethno-Archaeological Evidences on Archaeometallurgy in South India

Table B

Minor groups from the Table B can be offered to students from other Major disciplines only. Students who have completed the listed courses can pursue higher studies in the relevant areas.

Group 3 ECONOMIC HISTORY OF INDIA

Course 1 HIS1MN103 ECONOMIC HISTORY OF PRE - MODERN INDIA

Course description: This course contains a fascinating and transformative account of Economic History of India from pre-historic period to Mughal period. The history of evolution of Indian economy of pre-modern India will be discussed with special focus on influence of geographical features and their influence on economic life, development of agriculture, craft production, evolution of trade, public finance and revenue administration.

FOOD HISTORY
HIS1MN108 Food: A Global Perspective

Course Description: Food is more than sustenance; it is a lens through which we can explore the past, understand cultures, and trace the evolution of societies. In this undergraduate course, “Food in World History,” we will examine the fascinating journey of food across time and continents. From ancient civilizations to modern global food systems, we’ll uncover the stories behind what we eat. The five units that make up this course cover the basic ideas of food history and the significance of food in ancient, medieval, and modern world history. Through engaging lectures, readings, and discussions, we will explore the role of food in shaping human civilization.

V		Open Ended : Students will organize and participate in a food festival that showcases the diversity and richness of Kerala cuisine. They will apply their knowledge of the history, culture, and influences of Kerala food from the four units of the course. They will also learn about the preparation, presentation, and consumption of various dishes from different regions and religions in Kerala.	12
		<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Title: Kerala Food Fest(Example) • Activity 1: Planning the food festival • Students will form groups of four and choose a theme for their food festival stall based on one of the four units of the course. For example, they can choose ‘Traditional Food Culture of Kerala’, ‘Foreign Influence on Kerala Food’, ‘Food in Modern Kerala’, or ‘Food as Culture in Contemporary Kerala’. • Students will research and select at least four dishes that represent their theme. They will also write a brief introduction and explanation of each dish, including its history, ingredients, preparation, and significance. • Students will prepare a budget and a shopping list for their dishes. They will also decide on the decoration, layout, and presentation of their stall. They will make a poster or a banner that displays their theme and the names of their dishes.

	Activity 2: Preparing and presenting the food festival Students will cook their dishes at home, following the recipes and safety guidelines. They will also bring their own utensils, plates, napkins, and other necessary items for serving their dishes. Students will set up their stalls in the college or cafeteria, following their plan and design. They will also display their poster or banner and their introduction and explanation of each dish. Students will invite other students, teachers, and guests to visit their stalls and taste their dishes. They will also explain their theme and the dishes to the visitors and answer any questions they may have. They will also collect feedback from the visitors.
	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Activity 3: Reflecting and evaluating the food festival • Students will write a reflection paper on their experience of organizing and participating in the food festival. They will describe their theme, their dishes, their challenges, their successes, and their learnings. They will also analyse the feedback they received from the visitors and suggest any improvements for future food festivals. • Students will present their reflection paper to the class and share their insights and feedback. They will also listen to and comment on the reflection papers of other groups and appreciate their efforts and achievements. Assessment: The assessment will be based on the following criteria: Content: The dishes, the introduction and explanation, and the reflection paper should demonstrate a clear understanding of the history, culture, and influences of Kerala food from the four units of the course. They should also show an awareness of the diversity and richness of Kerala cuisine and its relevance to contemporary society. Creativity: The theme, the decoration, the presentation, and the reflection paper should use original and engaging ways to showcase the Kerala food. They should also use appropriate and relevant visuals, text, and audio to support their points.

KERALA MODEL IN CULTURAL LIFE
COURSE I: HIS1MN111 HISTORY OF MALAYALAM CINEMA

Course description: The course History of Malayalam Cinema provides a thematic and factual account of how a medium described as the ‘most powerful one in the modern era’, emerged in Kerala and its subsequent changes. The course enables students to understand, how from a humble origin, cinema assumed distinct Kerala character, in spite of strong influence from English, Hindi and Tamil films. Films, in due course, reflected political, social, economic and cultural issues. Impact of migration, globalization etc. are also evaluated.

Course 2 HIS2MN111HISTORY OF MALAYALAM DRAMAS

Course description: The course History of Malayalam Dramas provides a comprehensive account of how dramas emerged as religious and art pieces and their changes over time. Early forms were mostly religious in content and character. Changes occurred during colonialism. Students are required to understand these changes and correlate how on the one hand, dramas reflected changed reality and on the other, dramas advocated changes. These are indicated in the themes and their presentation

COURSE 4(GROUP1)
HIS8VN301 HISTORY OF ARCHAEO-IRON METALLURGY
AND MINING IN PRE-MODERN INDIA

Course description: This course offers a comprehensive exploration of the history, techniques, and cultural significance of iron metallurgy and mining in PreModern India. Through a multidisciplinary approach encompassing archaeology, history, and anthropology, students will delve into the origins, development, and socio-economic implications of metalworking in ancient India, with a particular focus on iron technology

V	Open Ended : This unit is customizable by the instructor. Topics can be chosen based on the interests of the class or current research trends in the field. Potential topics might include:		12hrs
19.	Field Survey and Documentation of Iron Ore Deposits: Undertake a field survey to identify and document iron ore deposits in a specific region, analyzing geological features and historical evidence to understand the significance of these deposits for ancient mining activities.

20.	Cultural and Technological Exchange in Iron Metallurgy: Research and analyze historical evidence of cultural and technological exchanges in iron metallurgy between different regions of the Indian subcontinent and neighbouring civilizations, exploring the impact of these exchanges on metalworking practices.
21.	Development of Ironworking Tools and Techniques: Investigate the development of ironworking tools and techniques over time, examining archaeological evidence and experimental data to understand how innovations in tool design and manufacturing processes contributed to advancements in iron metallurgy
22.	Environmental Impact of Ancient Mining Activities: Study the environmental impact of ancient mining activities, including soil erosion, deforestation, and water pollution, and discuss the implications for sustainability and resource management in PreModern societies
23.	Cultural Significance of Iron Artifacts: Explore the cultural significance of iron artifacts in ancient societies, analyzing their symbolic meanings, religious rituals, and socio-economic value within different cultural contexts.
24.	Trade Networks and Exchange of Metal Goods: Investigate trade networks and the exchange of metal goods between different regions of the Indian subcontinent and beyond, exploring the economic and cultural implications of long-distance trade in PreModern times
25.	Interact with the Local Iron Craft Community and Oral History Compilation: Students will engage directly with local iron craft communities, observing traditional techniques and conversing with artisans to document oral histories. Through this immersive experience, they'll gain insights into the cultural significance of ironworking traditions and contribute to the preservation of intangible heritage.
	Activities and Assessment for the open ended module For the open-ended module, here are suggested activities and evaluation methods aligned with the potential topics:
17.	Field Survey and Documentation of Iron Ore Deposits: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Activity: Organize a field trip to a local area with known iron ore deposits. Students work in groups to conduct geological surveys, collect samples, and document the location, composition, and accessibility of the deposits. • Assessment: Students submit a comprehensive report detailing their findings, including geological maps, sample analysis results, and interpretations of the significance of the iron ore deposits for ancient mining activities

18.	Cultural and Technological Exchange in Iron Metallurgy: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Activity: Assign students to research historical evidence of cultural and technological exchanges in iron metallurgy between different regions. They analyze primary sources, such as archaeological artifacts, trade records, and cultural texts, to identify instances of exchange and collaboration. • Assessment: Students present their research findings in a seminar format, discussing the impact of cultural and technological exchanges on metalworking practices and providing evidence to support their conclusions.
19.	Development of Ironworking Tools and Techniques: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Activity: Divide students into small groups and assign each group a specific period or region to investigate the development of ironworking tools and techniques. They analyze archaeological artifacts, experimental data, and historical texts to trace the evolution of tools and techniques over time. • Assessment: Students create a timeline or visual presentation highlighting key innovations in ironworking tools and techniques, accompanied by explanations of their technological significance and implications for iron metallurgy.
20.	Environmental Impact of Ancient Mining Activities: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Activity: Students conduct research on the environmental impact of ancient mining activities, focusing on case studies from different regions of the Indian subcontinent. They analyze historical records, archaeological evidence, and environmental data to assess the extent of soil erosion, deforestation, and water pollution caused by mining. • Assessment: Students prepare a written report or multimedia presentation summarizing their findings, including an evaluation of the environmental impact of ancient mining activities and recommendations for sustainable resource management practices
21.	Cultural Significance of Iron Artifacts: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Activity: Students select a specific iron artifact from a chosen culture or time period and conduct in-depth research on its cultural significance. They examine the artifact's symbolic meanings, religious associations, and socio-economic value within its cultural context. • Assessment: Students create a multimedia presentation or museum-style exhibit showcasing their chosen iron artifact, providing detailed explanations of its cultural significance and supporting their interpretations with evidence from primary sources.

22.	Trade Networks and Exchange of Metal Goods: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Activity: Assign students to investigate historical trade networks involved in the exchange of metal goods across different regions of the Indian subcontinent and beyond. They analyze trade routes, archaeological evidence, and written records to map out the flow of metal goods and identify key trading centres. • Assessment: Students develop a trade network map or infographic illustrating the exchange of metal goods between regions, accompanied by an analytical essay discussing the economic and cultural implications of long-distance trade in PreModern times.
23.	Interact with the Local Iron Craft Community and Oral History Compilation: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Activity: Organize a community engagement initiative where students visit local iron craft communities or workshops to interact with artisans and craftsmen. They can observe traditional ironworking techniques, participate in hands-on demonstrations, and engage in discussions with practitioners to understand their craft traditions, knowledge systems, and cultural significance. • Assessment: Students are tasked with compiling oral histories and ethnographic data gathered from interactions with the local iron craft community. They document the experiences, stories, and insights shared by artisans, capturing the intangible heritage of ironworking traditions. Assessment may include the submission of written reports, audio recordings, or multimedia presentations showcasing their findings and reflections on the cultural significance of iron craft practices within the community. Additionally, students may reflect on the implications of these oral histories for understanding the socio-cultural dynamics of PreModern iron metallurgy and mining in India.

Note: The course is divided into five modules, with four having minimum 26 units and one open-ended module with a variable number of units. There is total 48 instructional hours for the fixed modules and 12 hours for the open-ended one. Internal assessments (30 marks) are split between the open-ended module (10 marks) and the fixed modules (20 marks). The final exam, however, covers only the fixed units from the 26 fixed modules

VIII Semester B.A. (CUFYUGP) Degree Examinations
HIS8VN301 : History of Archaeo-Iron metallurgy and Mining in Pre-Modern India
(Credits: 4)

Maximum Time: 2 hours Maximum Marks: 70

Section A

[Answer All. Each question carries 3 marks] (Ceiling: 24 marks)

1. Archaeometallurgy
2. Painted Grey Ware
3. Pyrotechnology
4. Robert Bruce Foote
5. Iron furnace
6. Wootz
7. Bloomery iron
8. Alloys
9. Megalithic Culture
10. Second Urbanization

Section B

[Answer All. Each question carries 6 marks] (Ceiling: 36 marks)

11. Explain the historical perspectives of metals and their alloys which leading to the growth of civilization
12. What are the main source materials for the study of ancient metallurgy in India?
13. How did traditional knowledge system help us to find iron metallurgical advancement in India?
14. Write a note on Metal Technology in Medieval Historical Archaeology
15. Critically examine the metallurgical research of Iron in South India
16. What are the prerequisites for the iron making process in ancient India?
17. Analyse the main features of Archaeological studies of the material remains of Iron Age in Kerala
18. Discuss the nature of archaeological remains in megalithic sites

1) Section C

[Answer any one. Each question carries 10 marks]
(1x10=10 marks)

19. —Iron metallurgy is an important metal to influence the march of urbanization in India. Substantiate.
20. Account on the contributions of Ethno-Archaeological Evidences on Archaeometallurgy in South India

Note: The course is divided into five modules, with four having a total of 23 fixed units and one open-ended module with a variable number of units. There are a total of 48 instructional hours for the fixed modules and 12 hours for the open-ended one. Internal assessments (30 marks) are split between the open-ended module (10 marks) and the fixed modules (20 marks). The final exam, however, covers only the 23 units from the fixed modules.

I Semester BA (CUFYUGP) Degree Examinations October 2024

HIS1VN102 Field Study and Documentation

Maximum time: 2

Maximum Mark:70

Section A

(Answer All. Each question carries 3 marks)

(Ceiling: 24 marks)

1. Define field study and explain its importance in research.
2. List and describe the different types of field study.
3. Discuss the weaknesses of traditional research methods compared to field study research.
4. Outline the key steps involved in planning a field study.
5. What practical aspects and technologies are commonly used in field studies?
6. Explain the process of framing a research problem in the context of field study research.
7. Differentiate between primary and secondary sources in research.
8. What are archival materials and why are they important in field study research?
9. Describe the importance of preserving research sources.
10. Discuss the ethical issues that can arise in field study research.

Section B

(Answer All. Each question carries 6 marks)

(Ceiling: 36 marks)

11. Describe the role of background research in preparing for a field study.
12. Compare and contrast the use of primary and secondary sources in field study research.
13. Explain the significance of pre-field study work in the context of conducting effective field trips.
14. Discuss the methods and challenges of data collection in field studies.
15. How can digital tools enhance the process of field study research?
16. Outline the ethical considerations involved in conducting interviews during a field study.
17. Explain the importance of data storage and management in field study research.
18. Describe the steps involved in the peer review and publication process of historical research papers.

Section C

(Answer any one. Each question carries 10 marks)

(1x10=10 marks)

19. Analyze the process of qualitative and quantitative data analysis in historical research, providing examples of how each method can be applied.
20. Discuss the ethical considerations in historical research and the impact of these considerations on the interpretation and reporting of research findings

Course 2(GROUP 2)
HIS2VN102 Historical Tourism and Tour
Guiding

Course description: This comprehensive course encompasses fundamental tourism concepts, including classifications such as international and domestic, and the nuanced relationship between history and travel motivators. Analyze the historical evolution of the tourism industry, tracing its genesis from ancient times through pivotal eras, and scrutinize the influence of early travelers on destinations like India. A critical evaluation of diverse tourism typologies, encompassing cultural, religious, and emergent niche forms, is a focal point. The course rigorously examines the economic, socio-cultural, and environmental impacts of tourism, affording students a discerning perspective on both favorable and adverse consequences. The unique context of Kerala, India, is accentuated, and the curriculum culminates in an exploration of specialized tourism categories and a meticulous analysis of mitigating negative impacts

HIS2VN102 Historical Tourism and Tour Guiding

Maximum time: 2

Maximum Mark: 70

Section A

(Answer All. Each question carries 3 marks)

(Ceiling: 24 marks)

1. Define historical tourism and explain its scope
2. Discuss the role and significance of tour guides in historical tourism.
3. Outline the basics of tour guiding ethics
4. Provide a brief introduction to heritage tourism
5. What are the key communication skills required for tour guides?
6. Describe some basic guiding techniques used by tour guides.
7. Explain the classification and features of historical sites.
8. Discuss the importance of local history in guiding tours.
9. How do guides interpret architectural styles for tourists?
10. What are the best practices for handling artifacts and cultural objects during tours?

Section B

(Answer All. Each question carries 6 marks)

(Ceiling: 36 marks)

11. Analyze the economic and cultural importance of heritage tourism.
12. Discuss the challenges faced in the management of heritage tourism sites.
13. Evaluate sustainable tourism practices and their importance in heritage tourism
14. How can guides effectively interact with and manage diverse tourist groups?
15. What strategies can guides use to handle difficult situations during tours?
16. Explain the concept and significance of heritage walks in historical tourism.
17. Discuss how technology can be integrated into heritage walks to enhance the tourist experience.
18. Analyze the importance of cultural sensitivity and inclusivity in tour guiding.

Section C

(Answer Anyone. Each question carries 10 marks)

(1 x10=10)

19. Discuss the multifaceted role of tour guides in promoting heritage tourism and the impact they have on tourist experiences and site preservation
20. Examine the future of heritage tourism, focusing on the opportunities for growth and the challenges that need to be addressed to ensure sustainable development.

Course 3 (GROUP 2)
HIS3VN202 Laterite Studies in Historical Perspective

Course Description: This course explores the rich history and architectural significance of laterite monumental buildings in the Western Coastal Plain of India. Through a comprehensive examination of geological, geographical, and cultural factors, students will gain an understanding of the evolution, construction, and preservation of these unique structures.

V	Open Ended: This unit is customizable by the instructor. Topics can be chosen based on the interests of the class or current research trends in the field. Potential topics might include:	12hrs
	Sustainable Building Design with Laterite: Explore the principles of sustainable building design using laterite as a primary material. Discuss the environmental benefits and challenges of using laterite in construction, and examine case studies of innovative sustainable buildings incorporating laterite.
2.	Digital Tools for Heritage Preservation: Introduce students to digital tools and technologies utilized for the preservation and documentation of laterite heritage sites. Explore how modern technology, like virtual reality and digital mapping, helps protect and share the stories of ancient laterite structures. Through hands-on activities and demonstrations, learn how these digital tools can bring history to life and make it accessible to everyone, preserving our cultural heritage for future generations.
3.	Teamwork in Preserving Heritage: Facilitate discussions on interdisciplinary collaboration in heritage conservation, focusing on the roles and contributions of archaeologists, architects, conservation scientists, and community stakeholders. Invite guest speakers from diverse backgrounds to share their experiences and insights into collaborative conservation projects.
4.	New Ways to Save Ancient Buildings: Examine recent advancements in conservation materials and techniques for preserving laterite monuments. Explore case studies of successful conservation projects, highlighting innovative approaches to structural stabilization, surface protection, and long-term maintenance of ancient buildings.

5.	Tourism and Protecting Heritage Sites: Analyze the relationship between tourism development and heritage conservation, with a focus on laterite-rich regions. Discuss strategies for sustainable tourism management, community engagement, and cultural preservation, and encourage critical reflection on the impacts of tourism on local heritage sites.
6.	Activities and Assessment for the open-ended module For the open-ended module, here are suggested activities and evaluation methods aligned with the potential topics:
7.	Sustainable Building Design with Laterite Activity: Comparative Analysis Discussion Students review and discuss various designs of sustainable buildings constructed with laterite that they have studied. They analyze the cultural, environmental, and community aspects of each design, considering factors like aesthetics, functionality, and local context. Evaluation Method: Group Discussion Each group presents their analysis of a selected design to the class, highlighting its strengths and weaknesses. Peers engage in a discussion comparing the different designs, discussing which aspects they find most favourable and why.
8.	Digital Tools for Heritage Preservation Activity: Digital Heritage Exhibition Students research a chosen laterite monument and create a digital exhibition showcasing its history, significance, and preservation efforts. They use accessible digital tools like presentation software or online platforms to compile information, images, and multimedia content. Evaluation Method: Exhibition Presentation and Reflection Each student presents their digital exhibition to the class, highlighting key insights and discoveries. Peers provide feedback on the effectiveness of the presentation and the depth of research, focusing on clarity, engagement, and relevance.
9.	Teamwork in Preserving Heritage Activity: Case Study Discussion and Analysis Students analyze case studies of successful heritage preservation projects, focusing on collaborative efforts and community involvement. They discuss the challenges faced, ethical considerations, and the impact of interdisciplinary teamwork. Evaluation Method: Group Discussion and Written Reflection After the discussion, students write reflective essays on the importance of teamwork in heritage preservation, drawing from the case studies and personal insights. Essays are assessed based on critical analysis, depth of reflection, and integration of course concepts.
10.	New Ways to Save Ancient Buildings

	Activity: Conservation Material Research Project Students research different conservation materials used in preserving laterite monuments, focusing on their properties, historical use, and environmental impact. They create informative posters or presentations summarizing their findings and recommendations. Evaluation Method: Research Presentation and Group Discussion Each student presents their research to the class, discussing the significance of their chosen materials and their suitability for heritage conservation. Peers engage in a group discussion, exploring the pros and cons of various conservation materials and sharing insights from their research.
11.	Tourism and Protecting Heritage Sites Activity: Stakeholder Role-Play and Debate Students role-play as stakeholders involved in the management of a laterite heritage site, such as local residents, government officials, tour operators, and environmentalists. They participate in a simulated debate or negotiation, discussing the challenges and opportunities of tourism development while preserving cultural heritage. Evaluation Method: Role-Play Performance and Reflective Essay Students write reflective essays, analyzing their role-play experience and the complexities of balancing tourism and heritage conservation. Essays are assessed based on critical reflection, depth of understanding, and consideration of multiple perspectives.

Note: The course is divided into five modules, with four having minimum 32 units and one open-ended module with a variable number of units. There is total 48 instructional hours for the fixed modules and 12 hours for the open-ended one. Internal assessments (30 marks) are split between the open-ended module (10 marks) and the fixed modules (20 marks). The final exam, however, covers only the fixed units from the 32 fixed modules.

SEMESTER V
HIS4FS112-2/HIS5FS112-2 Cartography and Map Making

Course Description:

This course introduces students to the fundamentals of cartography and map making. It covers the principals of map design, spatial analysis, and the use of Geographic Information System (GIS) for creating and interpreting maps. The course aims to enhance students' spatial literacy and provide practical skills in map production. It further looks at the history of cartography in India that spanned over pre-colonial, colonial and contemporary period. The evolution of cartography in Kerala too comes under the purview of the course.

V	OPEN-ENDED : CONTEMPORARY RELEVANCE AND APPLICATION		9
	1	Political Activism: Analysing the role of nonviolent resistance in modern political movements
	2	Conflict Resolution: Exploring instances where the principles of Ahimsa have been applied to resolve conflicts
	3	Community Engagement: Designing and implementing a community service project inspired by Gandhian ideals

	4	Leadership and Ethics: Examining the influence of Gandhian ethics on contemporary leaders
		Activities and assessment of Open Ended For the open-ended module, here are suggested activities and evaluation methods aligned with the potential topics:
	1.	Political Activism: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Activity: Divide students into groups and assign each group a modern political movement that utilized nonviolent resistance (e.g., Civil Rights Movement, Women's Suffrage Movement, Arab Spring). Have each group research and analyse the strategies, leaders, and outcomes of their assigned movement. • Assessment: Each group presents their findings, highlighting the role of nonviolent resistance, key challenges faced, and the impact of their chosen movement on society. Assessment criteria can include depth of analysis, clarity of presentation, and critical thinking skills.
	2.	Conflict Resolution: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Activity: Present case studies of conflicts where principles of Ahimsa have been applied effectively (e.g., South African Truth and Reconciliation Commission, Northern Ireland Peace Process). Facilitate group discussions where students explore the application of nonviolent principles in resolving conflicts. • Assessment: Ask students to write reflective essays discussing the effectiveness of Ahimsa in conflict resolution, drawing on examples from the case studies. Assessment criteria can include depth of reflection, understanding of nonviolent principles, and critical analysis of outcomes.
	3.	Community Engagement: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Activity: Task students with identifying a community issue or challenge and designing a community service project inspired by Gandhian ideals of nonviolence, empathy, and inclusivity. Encourage students to collaborate with local organizations or community members in project planning and implementation. • Assessment: Students present their community service projects, outlining their goals, strategies, and expected impact on the community. Assessment criteria can include project feasibility, alignment with Gandhian principles, and potential for community engagement and empowerment.

	4.	Leadership and Ethics: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Activity: Assign students to research contemporary leaders who exemplify Gandhian ethics and values (e.g., Nelson Mandela, Martin Luther King Jr., Aung San Suu Kyi). Students analyse the leadership styles, ethical dilemmas faced, and the impact of their chosen leaders on society. • Assessment: Students create multimedia presentations or written reports discussing the influence of Gandhian ethics on the leadership and legacy of their chosen leaders. Assessment criteria can include depth of analysis, clarity of presentation, and critical reflection on ethical leadership principles.
